In Memoriam

Philip M. Saba

June 10, 1929 - May 12, 1987

Randolph High School

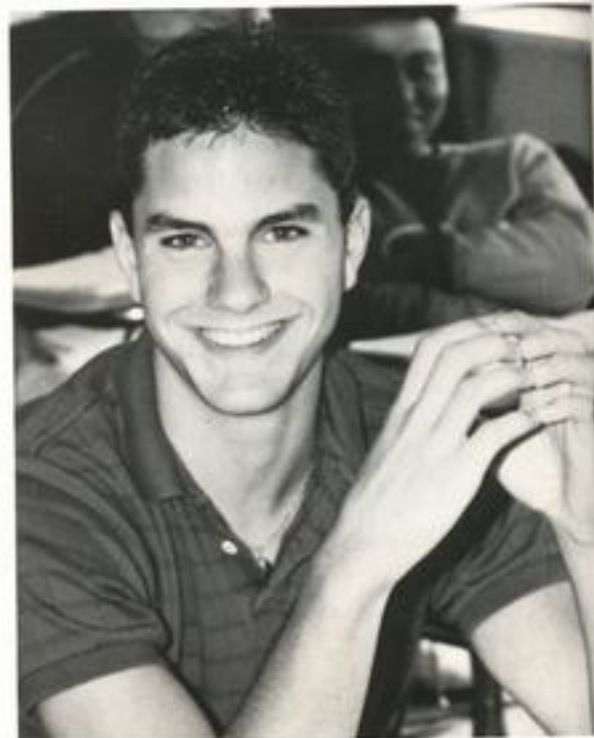

A Randolph High School Memory . . .

We present a chronicle of memories, a review of our Senior year at Randolph High School. It is an account of the classes, the activities, and the events which filled our lives. It is a remembrance of the people who will truly live in our minds. It is a record of joys, of achievements, and of disappointments. It is a Randolph High School memory.

BLUE DEVILS

Challenge Variety ... The Essence of Randolph High School ...

The essence of Randolph High School is challenge and variety. Daily routine gives to the many events scheduled. Courses offered are purposeful. Each class stands in a relief of personality and expertise.

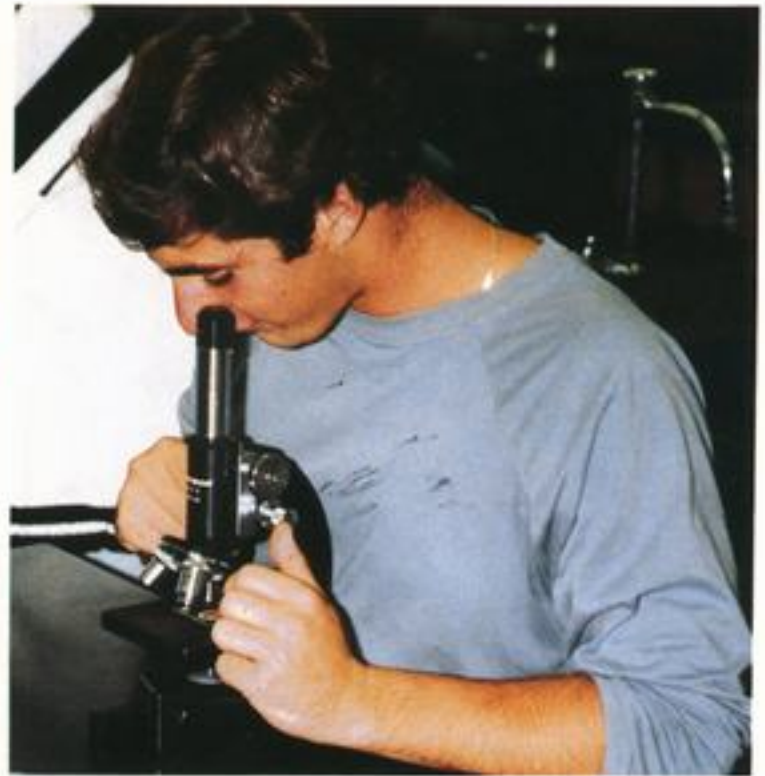

Activities: Development of Leadership . . .

Education at Randolph High School is not confined to the classroom. A varied list of activities is open to are students. Leadership is developed; the meaning of responsibility, learned.

Sportsman . . .
Working As A Team

Whether on the field, on the ice, on the court, or on the track, Randolph believes in sportsmanship. Sports provide a giant step towards maturity for all students. The teams are a constant pride to R.H.S.

We are Prepared . . .

Beyond is the future where our goals lie. Our accomplishments depend mostly on us. But, we are prepared! And, may these few impressions printed in our Oracle show us why.

Administration

Mr. Philip M. Saba
Principal, Randolph High School

As graduation approaches, I am sure you are filled with a sense of pride and anticipation. A sense of pride in the successful culmination of your high school experience. We and your parents share in that pride of accomplishment. A sense of anticipation because the unknown future presents a new and probably more demanding challenge.

My hope is that your education will help you to make better decisions about your life's goal. My prayer is that you have matured as individuals; able and willing to provide solutions to the problems that exist.

I congratulate each young adult in the Class of 1987. I wish for your Health, Happiness, and the Courage to make this a better world.
