RANDOLPH HIGH SCHOOL — RANDOLPH, MASSACHUSETTS

In this spring of 1990, our senior class graduates, and in doing so joins the rest of the world in taking a step forward into a new decade. This decade will bring with it incredible changes; just as each successive decade until now has produced more and greater advancements.

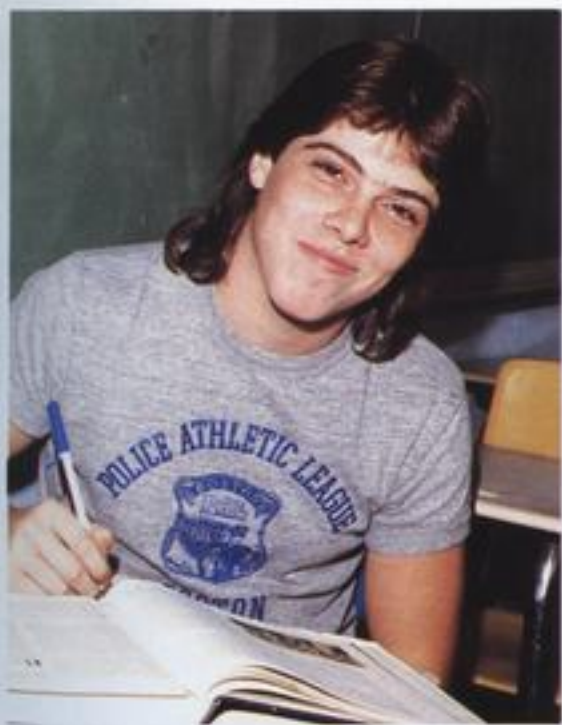

Time is only a matter of perspective. So much has happened and changed within our high school years, within the past decade alone, much less within our lives or in this century. Ask someone born at the beginning of this century how much life has changed for the world . . .

Many of these changes have been for the good. Everything is much easier, faster, better. We have efficient systems of transportation and communication, innumerable medicines, and mere survival is no longer an issue for the overwhelming majority of the human race. We have cordless phones, faster cars, microwaves, VCRs, compact disc players, widescreen TVs, Ralph Lauren clothes, plastic money, condominiums. Money seems to be there for the making, and, for many, it is not a matter of "having" but of "having how much?": whether it involves a little stock for the family or floating junk bonds worth billions of dollars.

A SENSE OF STYLE

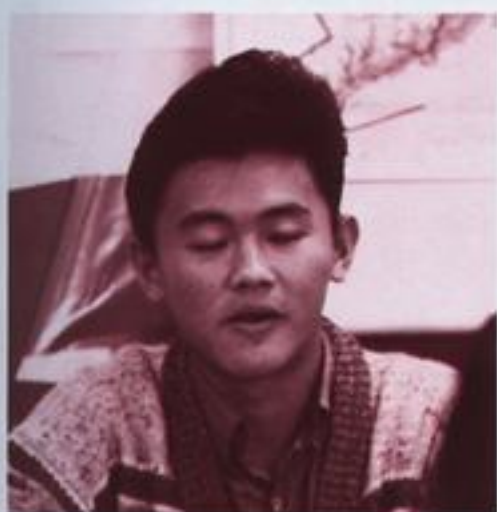

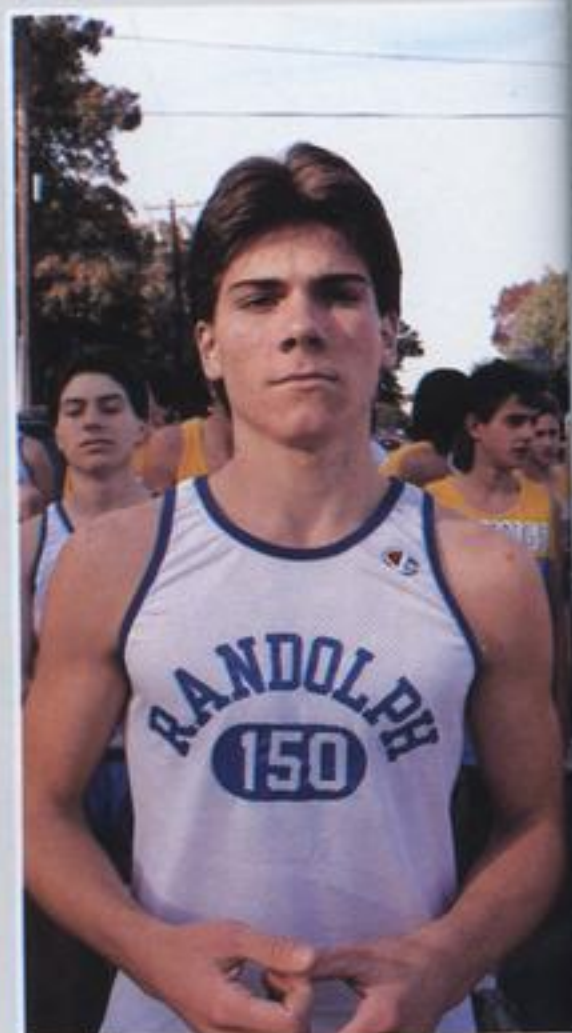

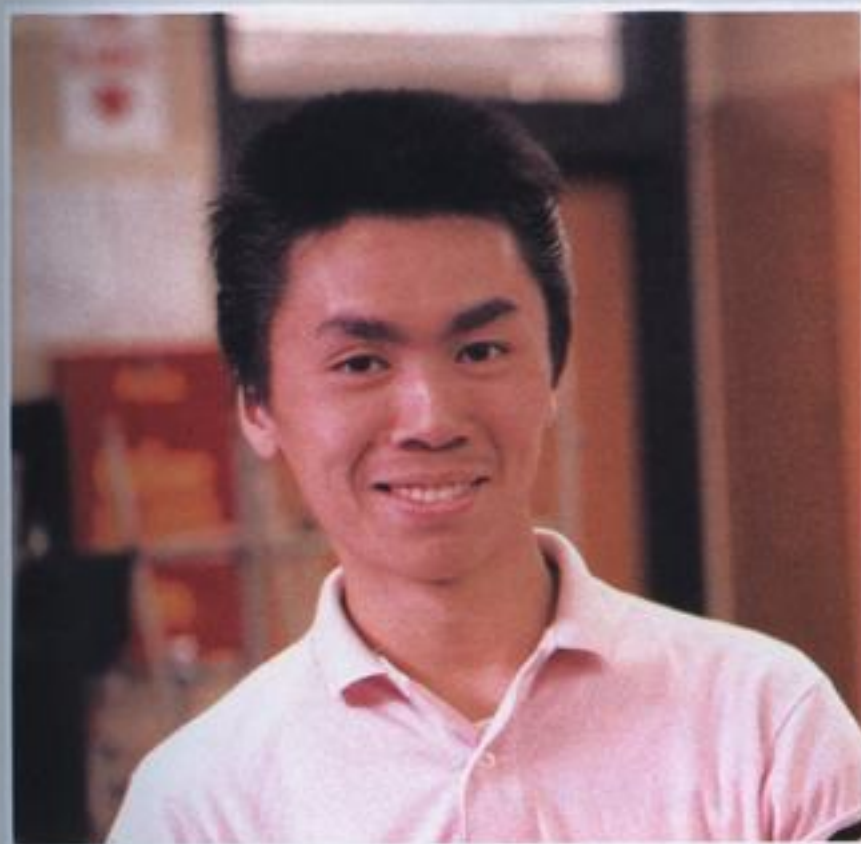

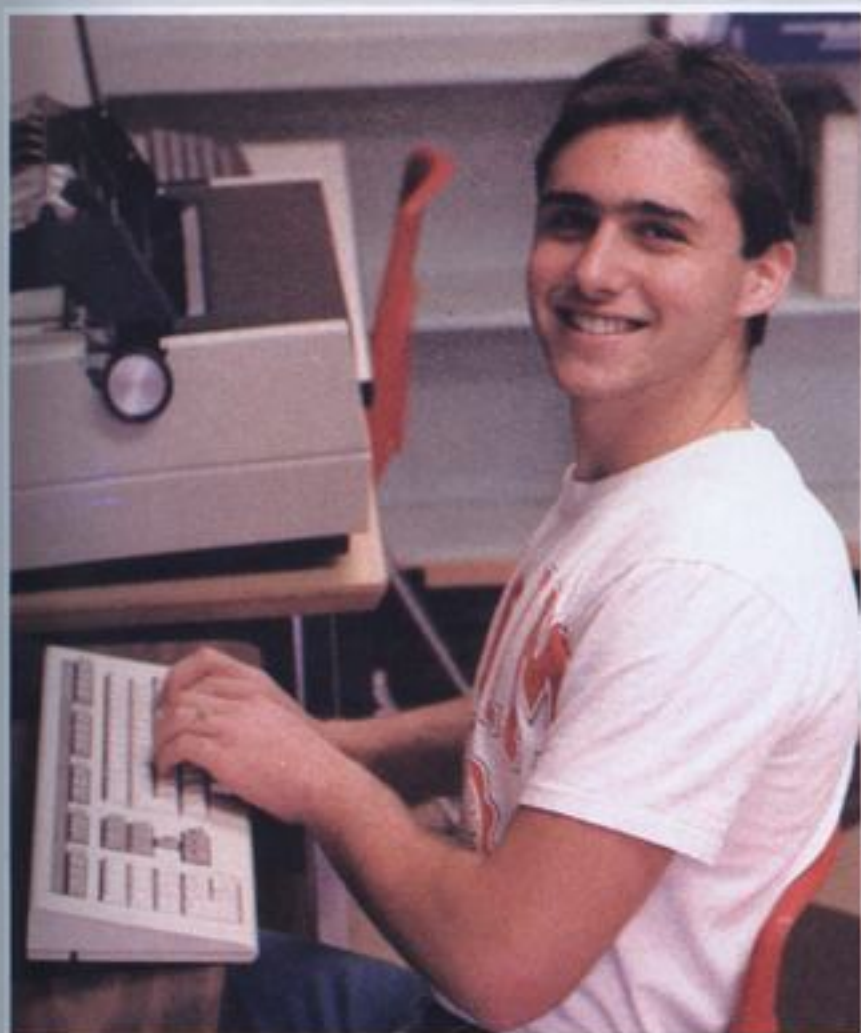

In addition, we have other political advancements: countries wherein the people rule themselves, where "freedom" abounds, and it is basically possible to live our lives in whatever way we see fit, as long as we do not infringe upon the freedoms of others. In our country, we are guaranteed "certain unalienable rights", and government and religion have been able to form various moral and ethical standards which are commonly accepted. These are indeed vast improvements upon even relatively recent times for mankind.

Of course, there is another side to the booming prosperity of mankind, another story to complement the incredible scientific and political and social success story of the human race. We also now have bigger missiles (enough military power to destroy this planet hundreds of times over), more people, crippling drug problems, homeless in the cities of some of the greatest countries in the world, and more, "new", deadlier diseases than those we have found cures for, corrupt religious organizations. Worst of all, we are, through pollution, overpopulation, and lack of consideration, slowly but irrevocably destroying the planet which has given us life for over a million years. So where do we stand, individuals in a world of billions?

THE FUTURE IS OPEN — WIDE OPEN

Our class will enter the 1990's having just graduated from Randolph High School, leaving behind us twelve long years of schooling. We've learned how to read and write, to understand the fundamentals of the sciences, to speak in new languages. Each of us has developed our own likes and dislikes, discovered our own personality and sense of style, and largely determined the person we will be for the rest of our lives. Our graduation in 1990 gives us a unique perspective; we are both entering an entire new time and life and ending a century of unparalleled advancements in every field of human endeavor.

Now, we are almost ready to leave this structured world and enter what is known euphemistically as "The Real World". This isn't to say we've been living in an imaginary or fairy-tale land until this moment, but our lives will soon be radically changed. Whether we have chosen to start working full-time, to travel, to start a family, or to advance our learning at a college or university, we have chosen, and our choice determines which particular road we each will travel.

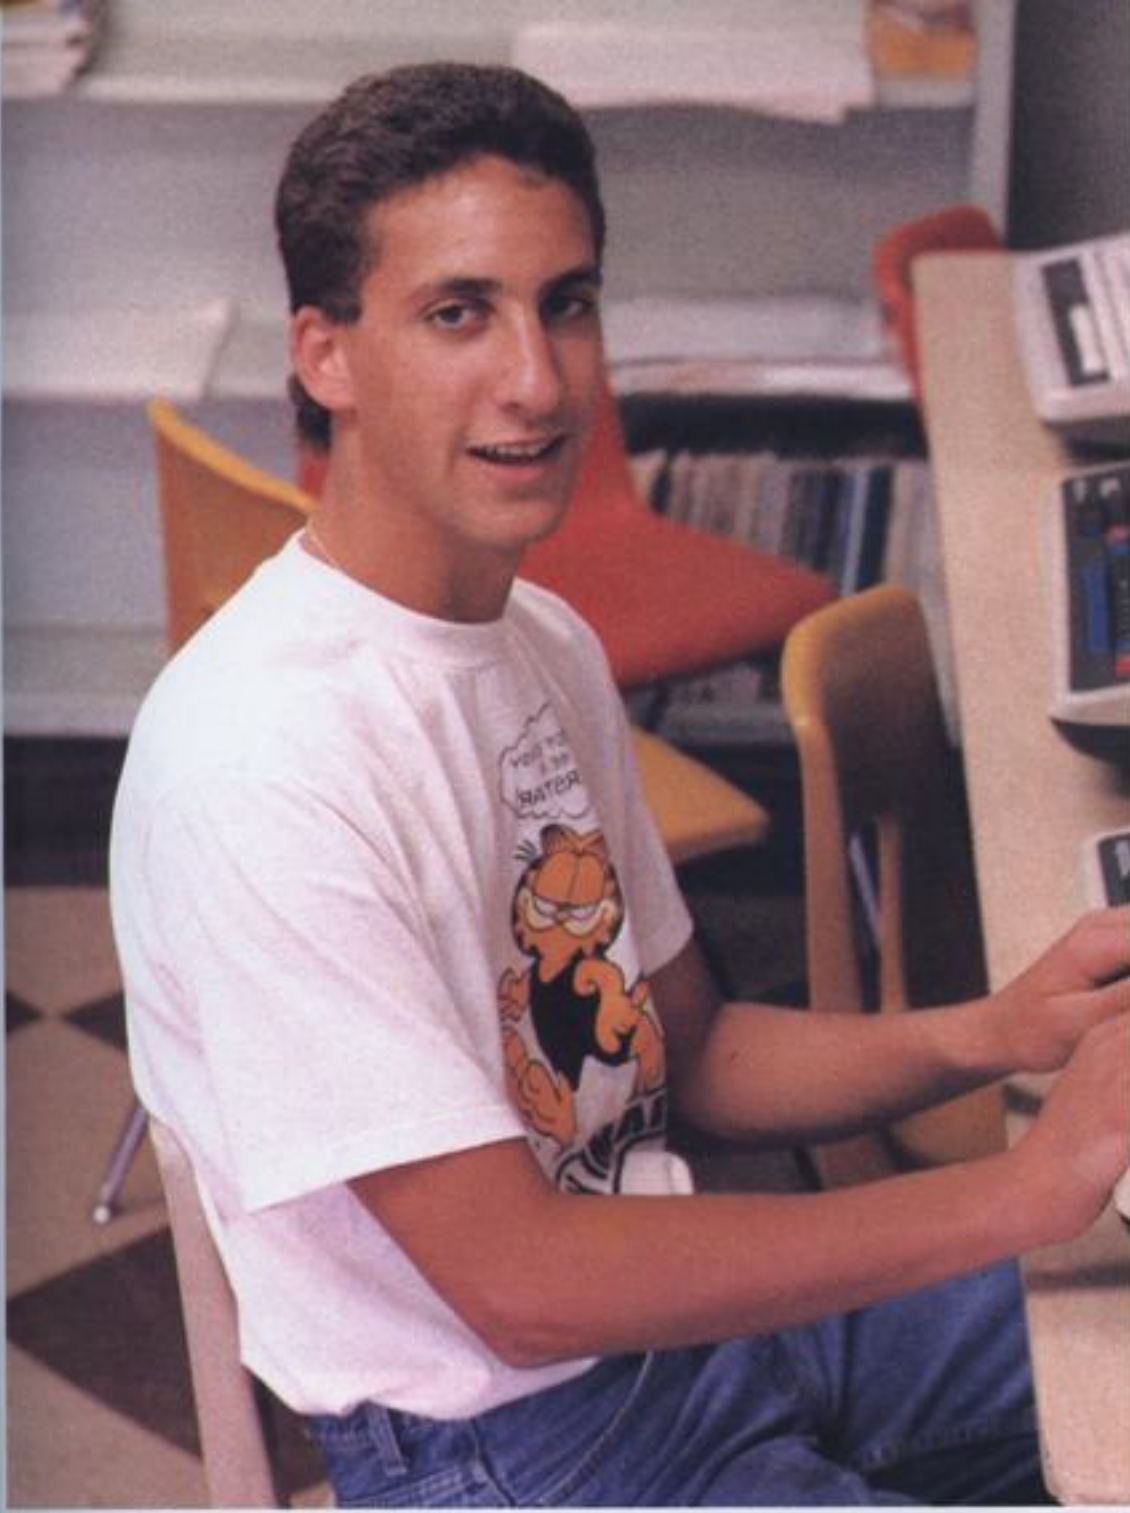

However, too often we assume that each particular road is narrow, defined, limited. These roads are only what we make of them, and it is up to us to decide what we want and to go after our own goals and dreams. The best course to follow has always proven to be Action: to act is the quickest way to see results. An age-old proverb says "Actions speak louder than words", and, in 1988, Nike captured this spirit by saying "JUST DO IT". Now is the time to go after our dreams and to shape the rest of our lives.

OUR DREAMS SHAPE THE REST OF OUR LIVES

Everything that we decide to undertake will have a result, and these consequences must be considered carefully. Recent history has shown that advancement is almost always counterparted by some sort of obstacle or problem, and the human race as a whole has too often ignored our "dark side", which has left us in our current uneasy situation. We must act in a way that involves taking responsibility for our actions and the actions of those who have gone before us. We must decide now the sorts of persons we wish to be and act accordingly.

As we, the R.H.S. Class of 1990, take the first steps onto these roads, and as the world around us enters the last decade of this century, remember that 1990 promises a new beginning, a dawn to a new decade and to a new time in our lives. How our lives continue depends on our decisions and actions now. High school is in the past, a source of many fond memories. The future is open, wide open, full of possibility and opportunity.

A NEW BEGINNING

Dedication

Mr. Edward M. Mashrick

The members of the Class of 1990 are proud to dedicate their Oracle to Mr. Edward M. Mashrick, one of our Senior Class Advisors. Mr. Mashrick has been an inspiration, a guiding force, and a leader of the Senior Classes at Randolph High School for twenty years. Despite many hurdles, he has persevered.

We salute you, Mr. Mashrick, and we thank you!

Dear Class of 1990:

Congratulations to you on your graduation from Randolph High School. The decade of the 1990's will lead us into a complex and rapidly changing future. You may face the future, confident that you have a solid educational foundation to meet the challenges of the "real" world. I encourage you to strive for excellence in all you do and to develop a commitment to life-long learning. Use your education to make a difference.

On behalf of the Randolph High School administration and staff, I wish you success in your chosen field and happiness in your personal life. I will always remember you as the class that started R. H. S. with me in 1986.

Sincerely,

Ellen Keane

AT WORK AND PLAY

Confusion sets in, again.

It's an illusion!

She is not supposed to say that!

Huh? Are you talking to me?

And you, are on the air!

Does anyone feel kinda . . . crooked?

POTPOURRI

Help me use the force!

Are you serious?

Go ahead, take my picture.

Annnnd . . . action!

What time does this class end?

Seriously, I can't find it!

Another illusion!

YOU CAN DO WHAT YOU WANT!

And to think I could be in physics?

Don't mess with me . . .

Move to the left, now to the right . . . hold it!

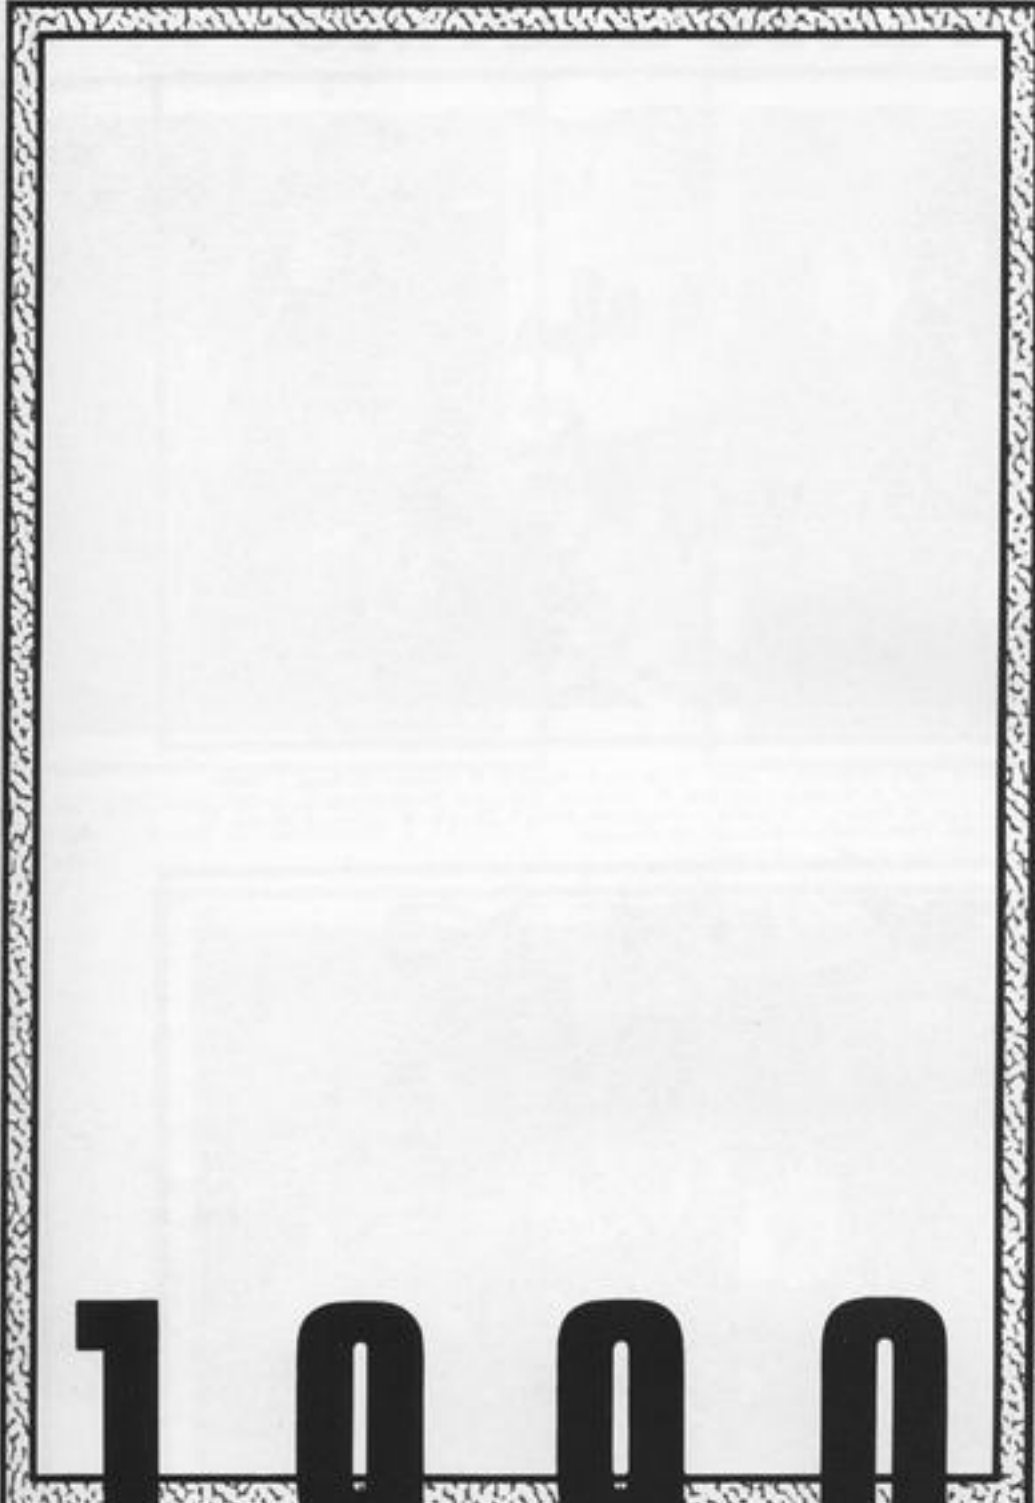

Jimmy? With a computer? Naah

I can't believe I'm still here!

I can't believe they ate the whole thing!

CANDID CAMERA

We've been here for how long?

The BIG SHOE dance

You put your right foot in . . .

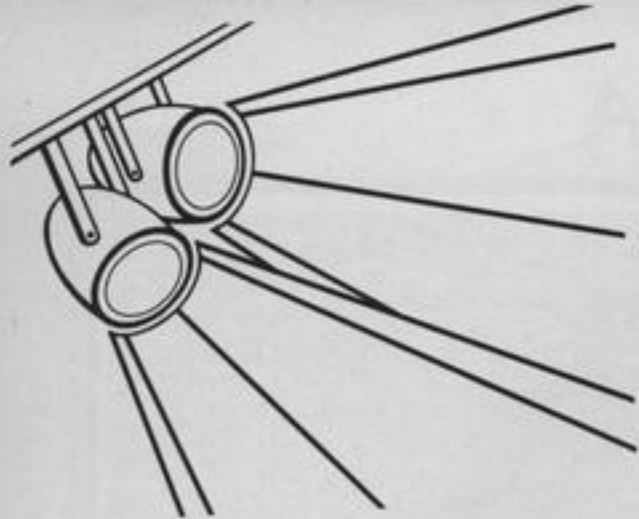

These are REAL men!

Is this guy trying to teach me?

Am I doing this right?

RHS DRAMATICS Presents . . . SLEEPING BEAUTY

Thespians and Technicians

"Hail to Queen Joliana!"

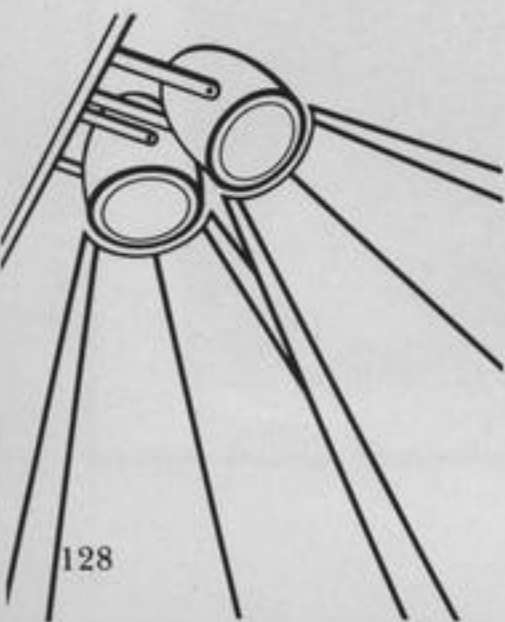

Croquet anyone?

Yes, Cindy even moves walls.

And then there's Prince Dauntless.

SANTA'S DREAM

Carry me away.

Two is company; three is a crowd, but I like it anyway.

Ronnie, did you see him?

We got the look.

So, do you think I'll get Prom Queen?

Smile pretty for the camera.

Hurry, my leg hurts!

You can open your eyes now.

I don't know that step.

Will you love birds stop!

Take the picture. We can't hold this smile too long.

I knew I should've stayed home.

SANTA'S DREAM

WOW!

Oh! Nol

I go ape for this song.

It wasn't that funny.

The dew twins

Slow dancing

Perfect couple

I'm feeling good

Perfect posture

SANTA'S DREAM

We're cool.

I'm looking good.

It's the 80's, and I'm here with the ladies.

Buddies forever

Look at the camera, not me.

I think she likes me.

Gee, that was actually good!

The future directors of Hollywood

I can't believe he took my picture!

I won?!!

Is it this key . . . or this one?

Look out Carl Lewis.
